Extensive information on the use of Cookies

Use of Cookies

The website grombakery.it uses cookies in order to help users navigate the website efficiently and perform certain functions.

When users visit the website, it sends information to the browser which then creates a text file on the device in use – computer or portable device – these text files are called “cookies” and they are saved in the browser’s directory.

There are different types of cookies used to enhance and enable the usability of the site. The cookies we use allow us to:

- Memorize the user’s preferences
- Store log in information to avoid re-entering the same authentication information over and over
- Analyze the use of different services and information inserted in order to optimize the user’s experience on the website

Types of cookies used by the technical site Cookie

This type of cookie enables the correct process of some sections on the website. There are two categories of cookies: persistent and session

- Persistent cookies: Text files which are not erased when the user leaves the website. These cookies are saved until a specific date.
- Session cookies: Temporary text files erased once the user leaves the website.

These cookies sent from our domain are necessary for the correct process of the site and are connected to the technical services offered. They will always be used and sent unless the user changes the settings of the browser (compromising the right visualization of the website)

Analytical cookies

Analytical cookies collect relevant information on the website’s use. The collected information coming from the cookies are used to improve the functioning of the website and to make the content more interesting to the user.

This type of cookies collects anonymous information on the user’s activity and on the way he/she found the website. Analytical cookies are sent from the same site or from third-party domains.

Third party cookies

These cookies are used to assemble anonymous information on the use of the website such as: time spent on the site, geographical location, age, sex and interest. These cookies are placed by the server of a domain different than the website visited.

Profiling cookies

This website does not use profiling cookies.
